Valley Road Plan Threatens Schools

Carmel Unified School District's board of education last night learned that plans to widen Carmel Valley Road will seriously impair the educational advantages of three schools which lie along the route.

Most seriously affected will be Carmelo School, which, if the road goes through as currently proposed, will have a four-lane highway right outside the classroom windows. Less impaired but still gravely threatened are Tularcitos and the junior high plants. It was pointed out to board members that there will be a public hearing on the road question on the same day as the next school board meeting. One complication to the problem could be the fact that the attorney for the school board is the county attorney, the same man who would represent the road planners.

The board also formally adopted the change in board rules concerning transportation which they had been considering for the past several weeks. Major change in policy is adoption of a two-mile limit, beyond which the district may supply transportation or in-lieu-of-transportation payments up to six cents a mile.

As part of the same move, the board adopted two basic bus routes together with several sub-routes for the Valley trip. The so-called Dudley route, temporarily established by the superintendent and never approved by the board, was excluded from the approved list, even in the face of severe objections by several members of the audience who said there was no

An Editorial

We have for the past several weeks been hearing rumors concerning a large development planned for the artichoke fields at the mouth of the Carmel River. Some of the more lurid versions of the rumor describe a giant hotel and resort spreading from one bank of the river to the other.

Long-time residents will remember that just south of the bridge on the east side of the road stands a barn. Halfway up the barn was considered high-water mark for a number of years.

In recent years, development of the property along the river has caused the problem to become more acute. Levees have been built by property owners to protect their homes and other investments, with the paving designed to allow water to run off. Houses have roofs that shed water. These in turn cause drainage problems which have been solved, each of them causing more and more water to flow in the river.

In 1955 a flood inundated the entire area and water rose to the point that the bridge was closed to traffic as unsafe.

Consider what would happen if the same flood conditions were to happen in combination with a high tide and a wind from the West. Add to this all the little rivulets all the way up the Valley which have been directed toward the river. And also all the levees which property owners have built to keep water away from their investments. Consider also homes which have been built on progressively lower ground. Then in your mind build a picture of a giant motel in the artichoke fields, acting like a great dam.

There is another item which would complete the whole. Lower than the Mission Ranch stands the sewage treatment plant, already threatened by levee-caused high water. A million gallons a day of raw sewage would be added to Carmel Bay if the plant were made inoperable.

This combination, in what would be termed only a moderate rainfall, could become one of those horrifying events that we read about in the papers—the kind that never happens here.

The PINE CONE most urgently requests the County Board of Supervisors to take immediate action toward preventing this potential tragedy. Furthermore, we request the Supervisors to take measures to protect the residents of low-lying areas, and other measures to protect our sewage disposal plant.

No. 31

By Harry the Fletcher

A love have I, and she is fair, and oh so sweet and true; the sun turns gold her burnished hair, her beauty ever new. With smiles she greets me at the gate as love shines through her eyes; and incidentally I'll state she bakes most luscious pies!

Down through the years I never failed to marvel at her voice, amazed what miracle prevailed to make my love her choice. She speaks and I can understand why I have no regrets—she has no peer in all the land for cooking crepe suzettes.

She walks in grace and majesty, a queen of queens alone; the wisest man is dumb lest he has known what I have known. Philosophers from west to east, to learn what love can do — they only have to taste, at least, her famous beef ragout.

So, let them have their movie stars, their Playboy bunnies' curves, their shish kabobs and caviars and junk that Maxims serves. I much prefer the Kesh Lorraine that she whips up so well; the gay, fast life is not my game — besides, it costs like hell!

Rehearsing for their "Sing" to be held in the Forest Theater next Monday afternoon from 3:30 to 5:00 o'clock, are all Girl Scouts of the area. The public is cordially invited to attend the program.

Wind IN THE Pines

BY

The gentle breeze hushed through the trees as I walked in the dark of night. The dust of the road silenced my footsteps and hung in a low, eerie cloud in the moonlight. There was a nip in the air and I raised my collar around my neck.

It was two miles from the town to our radar base that the Japanese Navy had formerly called Noshappu. The road ran along the beach and across the sand I could see the long, slender rowboats used for netting herring, glowing softly from the luminosity rubbed off the fishes as they rode back into shore and the canneries. A fat raven called alarm at my approach and flew off from one of the boats.

The world was filled with peace and it was hard to realize that across those silent waters only 38 miles the Russians had five air-dromes equipped with the latest jets, waiting only for some mystic signal to come from Vladivostok, the station their radio operators referred to as "Ivan."

I heard a drum throbbing somewhere up ahead and, straining to see, made out some kind of procession coming toward me with flaming torches. I stepped off the road into the shrubbery and waited.

It was one of those strange Shinto things that I never did understand. Some of the faces were painted in white and colored dyes and a man was carrying a huge drum beating a cadence for the walkers. The singing to me seemed like the uncontrolled yowls of savage cats. I spoke some Japanese at the time, yet couldn't understand a single word of that strange dialect. The dancers at the rear of the procession were garbed in strange robes and cast bizarre shadows in the flickering light of the torches.

Then they were gone and the sound of the drum grew more and more distant. When I could hear it no more I stepped back into the road and headed once again for Noshappu. The waves slapped softly at the boats rocking evenly at the shore. By now the moon shone on the water and all the wisdom of my eighteen years told me that these people had surely the strangest habits possible in a human. I was certain they couldn't understand my enjoyment of that quiet walk.

Looking back over nearly twice that many years, I realize that about an hour after these events happened I was huddled in a tiny, darkened shack atop the mountain that is at the northern end of Hokkaido, staring into a piece of glass about six inches in diameter, watching a green line go round and round and anxiously looking for small green blobs to appear.

● A correction and our apologies. In last week's Pine Cone we alerted one and all that November was Red Cross Cookie Month—cookies for the soldier boys. We named Mrs. Donald B. Walker chairman of the Carmel Chapter, American Red Cross, that was wrong, Mrs. Walker represents the chapter on the Fort Ord Council and Mr. August H. Johnson is the Carmel Chapter Chairman.

The Social Security Administration again reminds all young women who have married and have not given their social security office their new names to do so as soon as possible. Failure to take a few moments now may cause a lengthy delay or even loss of benefit rights at some future time.

Happiness is a Houseful of Hoods

Profile of a Carmel Family

BY CAROLYN ELSTOB

There are just four of them in a great spacious house, but when Al and Connie, senior, and Al, III, and Connie, junior, go into action, it is a houseful of happy, creative excitement, the bubbling enthusiasm of a quartette of individualists, each one with a very special hobby.

The Albert Hoods came to Carmel to live in 1961 from one of New Jersey's oldest and most picturesque towns, Wyckoff, where all four were born.

Brunette, green-eyed Constance was the eldest of the Louis Scala's six daughters. Her mother was a drama coach and fashion expert and from her earliest childhood Connie found people, all types of people, fascinating. There always seemed to be a Scala birthday just ahead, and that meant a party. Life was a very happy affair. There was just one tiny grief in teen-age Connie's life, "I used to see Al Hood every day at school, but he was older and ahead of me and my life problem was—how to make that wonderful boy see me!"

Teenager Albert Hood just didn't have much time for girls. He had one best pal—his father, and the two had an all-absorbing hobby, what went on inside automobiles.

It is quite true, gears and gadgets can fascinate a boy, but in Wyckoff, New Jersey, Al did, one day, see Connie. He took a second look and after that the gears were second best. World War II cast its shadow on the boy and girl romance. Al enlisted in the Marines and saw service on Okinawa. But happily the war ended, and Al returned to his best girl.

Connie Scala became Mrs. Albert Hood, April 22 1949, and the bride and groom went off in high gear, a team hat has been speeding along happy highways ever since.

Connie Jr., was born Dec. 9, 1951 and, to complete the quartette Alfred III was born Jan. 22, 1954.

It was in the spring of 1949 when Al Sr. and son spotted an advertisement in the New York Times offering a 1910 Cadillac for sale. They bought it; they joined clubs and combed the back woods for antique cars, all makes and types. Creaking with age the antiques hobbled into the Hood garage and there master surgery was

Houseful of Hoods

performed. Not only the innards were lovingly rejuvenated, the face lifting jobs were heroic.

Connie, loving wife as she was, bore up bravely. Tiny Connie and even tinier Alfred III climbed perilous heights into the driver's seats of everything from a Stevens Dur-yea to a 1907 Rolls Royce. Then! The whole family caught the fever! They became antique buffs, all stops out.

The beautiful century-old house in Wyckoff was the setting for rare early Americana, furniture and dishes, cutlery and bric-a-brac, each "find" a triumph for the young Hoods.

Al was at this period the only dealer in antique automobiles registered in the State of New Jersey.

But their pursuit of antiques did not absorb Al and Connie entirely. They were both licensed pilots and when they weren't sky high in their own plane they were acting in little theaters of the area.

Connie wrote a column in the Wyckoff News over her own signature and the Hood home was the meeting place for actors and artists as well as antiquarians and automobile enthusiasts.

One of the young Hoods' closest friends was the renowned singer, James Melton, whose collection of automobiles in miniature was world famous. Al and James spent many happy hours marveling at the delicate precision of the inside mechanisms of the tiny models. When James Melton died the Hoods acquired his unique collection.

I saw the collection the other day when I visited Connie and Al in their lovely Rio Vista home. There are dozens of cars, some not more than five inches over-all, Jimmy's favorite Rolls (Silver Ghost) is there. And in a beautiful glass cabinet are two models in solid silver; they are desk sets and were created in England.

At one period Al Hood owned 17 antique cars, one of the finest collections in the country it was constantly drawn upon by T.V. and motion picture studios (remember Richard Burton in Hemingway's "Fifth Column"?). The four Hoods appeared in a "period" car wearing early 20th century togs to go along.

Heading his own fuel service, collecting and driving cars and giving his heart as well as every free moment to his young family, kept Al going a lively pace, but both he and Connie found time to teach in their Presbyterian Sunday School, to read authoritative books on education of juveniles and to take the children on picnics.

It was in 1952 that their story was written in the Ladies Home Journal under the title "How America Lives."

In 1960 the Hoods decided to see America. The four crossed the country in their station wagon.

And! they discovered Carmel!! Naturally, they came back in '61 to stay.

Both Connie and Al have appeared in little theatre productions here. They both teach in the Presbyterian Sunday School. Connie Jr., attends Carmel Junior High School where she has just been named top girl of the 7, 8 and 9th grades for all round physical fitness. Young Albert is in the fourth grade at Woods School. Connie's hobby is baseball! And Albert's? Doing what dad does, of course. Both youngsters sell the local newspaper!

Connie is the sparkling manager of the Lorene Scala fashion shop in Pantiles Court off Dolores street, a branch of her mother's shop in New York City. Al? You'll see him any time, every day, cheering the men along who the-Sea service station at San Carlos and Fifth. It's to be Al's and to open about Jan. 1, with his slogan "We fix everything but broken hearts" for all to read as they ride.

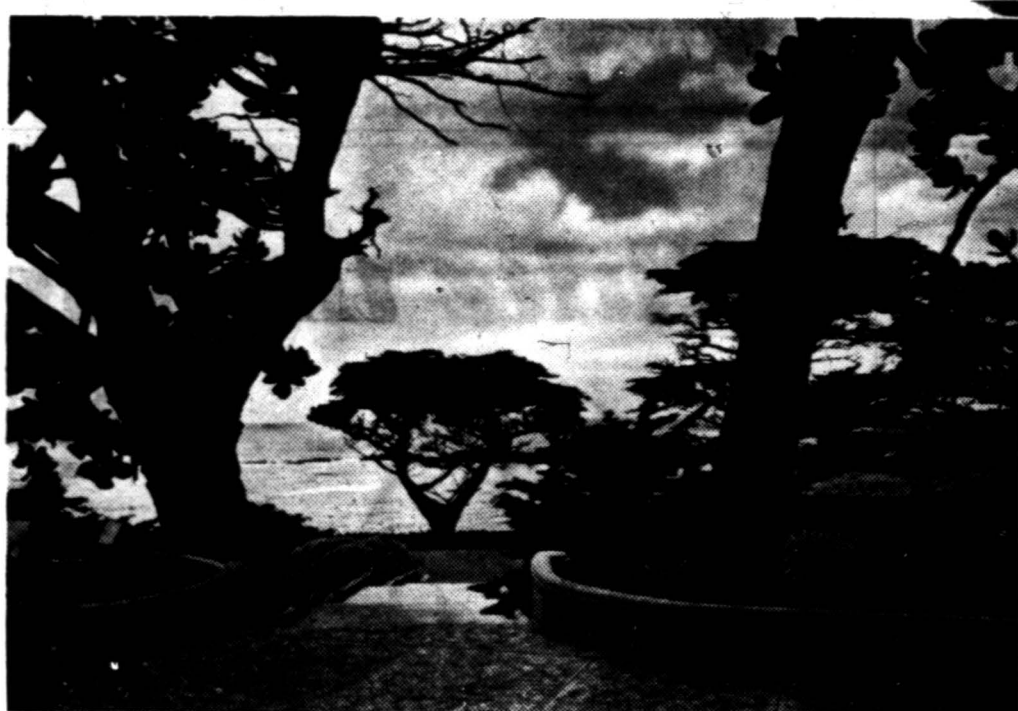

I hated to leave the lovely house in Rio Vista, but Al had saved a surprise for me. He took me into the surgically spic-and-span garage and there I saw his special pride, a 1909 Pierce Arrow that anyone, even I, not really an antique car buff, would find beautiful. Its glowing copper hood, its brass carriage lamps, its whole shining body is a thing of beauty! We can only hope that Al will some day drive it down to Shell-by-the-Sea for all Carmel to enjoy.

I waved goodbye to the four Hoods, the two dogs, the three kittens and house chuck full of happiness.

Waltz through washday with a dryer!

The tempo of washday is relaxed when you have an automatic dryer. You don't have to lift and lug those back-breaking baskets of wet wash any more. (The average homemaker handles about two tons of wet wash a year!)

Ironing is easier, too. New damp-dry settings make clothes come out just right for ironing. And some fabrics come out so wrinkle-free, they need no ironing at all.

You'll be able to dry your wash at any hour of the day or night in any weather. Laundry comes out soft, fluffy... looks and feels good. And a dryer's ultra-violet light gives your clothes the sweet scent of summer sunshine.

You'll save money on clothing—especially for "small-fry". Clothing lasts longer, and fewer clothes and linens are needed when you can wash and dry any time. Why not waltz down to your Reddy Recommended Dealer's today?

Carmel Padres Crack Live Oak

by Bob Holmes

Last Saturday afternoon Carmel High School Varsity football team remained in first place with a 19 to 0 win over Live Oak. Carmel is 5-0-0 in league competition.

The game was a scoreless tie until the 2nd quarter when Mikey Paul scored from the 19 yd. line. Ralph Juarez kicked the conversion. Again in the 2nd quarter Carmel scored as Johnny Tolan rumbled across from the 11-yd. line. The P.A.T. failed and at half-time Carmel led 13 to 0. The Padres' final score came in the fourth quarter as Al Nishumura went across on a keeper play.

Tolan was again responsible for many Carmel first downs. His touchdown was the first he has scored this year.

Defensive star Paul proved his versatility by scoring his first Varsity touchdown.

Carmel was hampered by the loss of Grant Pollock and Tom Poulas.

The Live Oak team proved to be very under-rated as they held the powerful Padres scoreless until the second quarter, a feat in itself. Carmel lost 125 yds. on penalties.

The Padres play Gonzales High this Saturday at 2:00 o'clock on Bardeson field.

The J.V.'s were very surprised by the Live Oak J.V.'s. Coaches Jase Harbet and Buzz Rainer were expecting a submissive team and were greatly disillusioned. The Padre Babes will be "up" for the Gonzales game and let's hope they can keep up the 26 game winning.

Mr. DiStefano, CSF sponsor, awarded the following students membership in CSF: Steve Arnon, Carlin Arriola, Martha Campbell, Bob Cater, Lolita Concepcion, Eric Danysh, Daphne Dennis, Joan Felder, Roger Fonseca, John Graham, Betty Haak, Jeff Hudelson, Mary Hurn, Lisa Jaffe, Kris Johnson, Richard Johnson, Steve Johnson, Ladgy Kratky, Linda Lachmund, Gerry Montmorency, Pete Muhs, Brent Neel, Al Nishimura, Jim Purvis, Susan Rzeppa, Larry Sheingold, Mark Sinclair, Andy Smith, Clyn Smith, Erica Steinberger, Nancy Thompson, John Tracey, Lois Watson, and Ken Wiese.

Carmel High School students did a fine job last spring when they took the National Merit Scholarship exams. Five students—Steve Arnon, Norrie Bobbs, Mary Hurn, Jim Miller, and Richard Whitelaw—made qualifying scores and are semi-finalists. Carmel can also be proud of Carlin Arriola, Kathy Goulding, and Andrew Smith who received Letters of Commendation for their performance on the test.

Giovanetti Speaks to Kiwanis Club

Speaking before the Carmel Kiwanis Club members at their weekly meeting held last Thursday, Monterey County Chief Probation Officer A. H. Giovanetti stressed some of the prime causes of juvenile delinquency, placing the responsibility squarely upon the parents and home environment.

"It is not always the answer for quarrelling parents to avoid divorce and go on living together at all costs. The cost to the children is too high. They find life at home to be unhappy to cope with and deprived of parental care and love they drift toward delinquency."

In his discussion of the dangers of alcoholism relating to juveniles, Mr. Giovanetti gave surprising statistics. In researching the backgrounds of juvenile alcoholics probation officers have found that at least 50% come from homes of non-drinking parents. Actual inquiry indicates that more drinking is done by teen-agers who came from temperate homes.

Mr. Dal Favero, supervisor of education, hosted the group.

● Mrs. LeGrand Woolley, chairman of the Tau Mu Hospital Fund, announces that the sorority is underwriting the cost of a special incubator for premature babies to be given to Community Hospital by Tau Mu. Similar to the ones used for the Fisher quintuplets, the $900 incubator has a built in scale so that a premature infant can be weighed without being moved.

Airman First Class Gene R. Bartlett II (left) of Carmel, received a cash award here for his military improvement suggestion. Airman Bartlett suggested the installation of equipment to provide better safety and fire protection in the base theatre at Fuchu Air Station, Japan, where he was assigned prior to arriving at Langley. He now is on duty in the 4500th Air Base Wing as an administration specialist. During the airman's three and one-half years of service in the Air Force, he has received cash awards for three suggestions that have been adopted. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene R. Bartlett of Carmel, and is a graduate of Carmel High School. He entered the Air Force in February of 1960. Making the presentation is Lieutenant Colonel Phillip W. Garriis, director of personnel. ### CV Mother Makes Citizen's Arrest

It happened at that hour of the morning when, some accompanied by mothers, many on their own, boys and girls from kindergarten age upward were pouring in to Carmel Valley's Carmelo School from all directions.

The school bus came to its bounding blinking stop and moppets started hopping out. Despite the blinking rear light on the bus and the much publicized law against passing, a car full of adults went whizzing by.

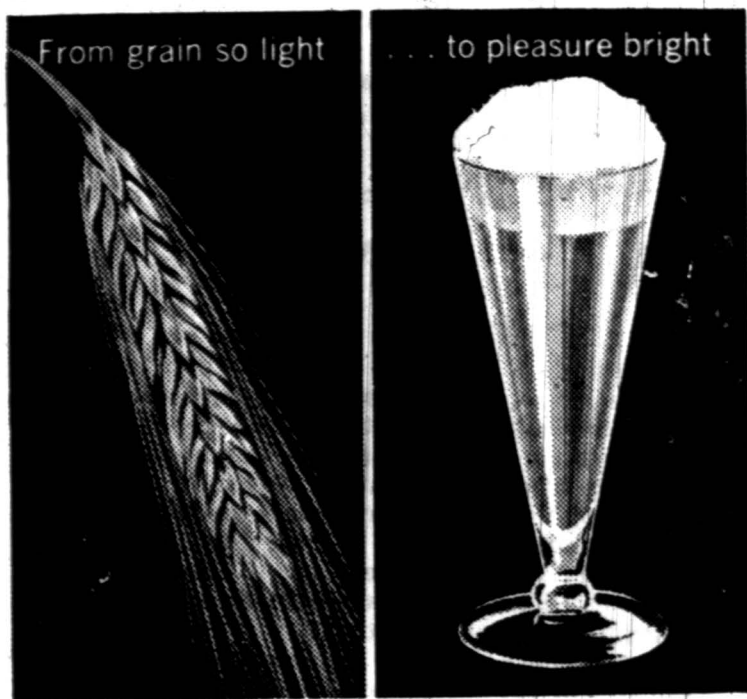

The indignant bus driver hailed the driver of the car who, already across the crossroad, made an unwilling stop. Told that passing a signalling bus was illegal, the man and his passengers chorused that the bus driver was just too fussy.

Before they could get underway an indignant mother joined our bus driver. "I am the mother of three students at Carmelo School," she told, "Elizabeth, in kindergarten, Mark in first grade and Matthew in second. They cross and recross the road you zoomed through. You broke the law and you're not even concerned. Therefore, I make a citizen's arrest!" With no more to say she took down the license number and it is in the hands of the Highway Patrol.

Our hats off, to the bus driver and the mother—Mrs. Jimmy Lyons.

● Carmel's October shuffleboard tournaments were won by Don Neher, Walter Brook, A. G. Mott and Bob Hoffman. An anonymous donor has enabled the construction of a third court. Carmel Shufflers seek games with all Peninsula teams.

IN CALIFORNIA BEER IS A NATURAL

From nature's light grain comes sparkling, light beer... California's traditional beverage of moderation—it's light, sparkling, delicious.

And naturally, the Brewing Industry in California is proud of the more than ten million tax dollars it contributes to the state of California each year—money that helps support our schools, our hospitals and our parks. In California, beer belongs—enjoy it.

ALL SOULS' EVE

The moon is afraid on this haunted night,
And so am I,
Swift hounds of hell track eerie paths of light
Across the sky.
Dare I tell why?

Great winds astride the galloping storm,
And from afar
A shuddering soul who has fled its doom
Through gates ajar,
Runs, naked, afraid, through God's empty room
To find the star:

The morning star on the threshold of dawn
Its yearning goal:
Bright taper, lone symbol of hope reborn,
Will make it whole.
The east turns deep rose, while the moon and I
Together pray
That one shriven soul, as it passes by
Will reach the day.

DOROTHY LUKE
Carmel

EXULTATION

I hear a bird! This first sweet day of Spring!
A thousand fancies flow into my mind;
Old, foolish thoughts — not dead at all, I find,
But only dormant — 'til the bird calls ring.
O blithe musician, caroling as you wing
Swiftly upward, is your life designed
As a pattern? Should I leave behind
Earth bound cares, and join you as you sing?
Truly, that clear call was meant to be
Even more than greeting to a mate;
Life, itself, conveying truth to me
That he who triumphs dares to tilt with Fate.
O lilting bird! Within my heart now floats
Resurging joy — upwelling, like your notes!

LAURA ANNA COTTON
Berkeley, California.

I'M GOING OUT

I'm going out the old back door,
I'll be a long time gone;
But you'll come in where I left off,
To hope and carry on.

I've traveled far a thorny trail
And carried far a load;
But you may bear a lighter pack,
And choose a brighter road.

The billions wait their turn to go
Where trillions passed before;
But you'll stay put while I glide out
The wide and open door.

BEN PHILLIPS
Seaside, California.

"Well above the four-score mark and trying for 90."

TO A NUTTALL SPARROW

In your plaintive song
I hear swish of small waves, see blue water below
cliffs topped with yellow tree-lupine, smell tang of salt breeze,
feel its coolness on cheek.
Do you also long for the sea?

HELEN G. JEFFERSON
Berkeley, California.

FAMILY CYCLE

We watch our serried ranks of kin
Go down before the Woodsman of the Years,
The while we sense a majesty of plan
So filled with wonder and too deep for tears.

NELL GRIFFITH WILSON
Kenwood, California.

BRIGHT SIGNATURE

Gleaming
the eagle quill dipped in vapor and light writes a shining log sky high, sky bright in jubilant calligraphy
the signature of flight.

Norfolk, Virginia.

Arts and Literature

REVIEWED BY HARRY WELLESLEY FLETCHER

Quite a backlog of poetry has accumulated for our Pine Cone Poetry Column which appears on the opposite page, so we shall endeavor to print more than one column each month until we have caught up. We shall still welcome contributions.

Unfortunately, we have had to return several submitted poems because of their great length, or because they verged too much on the proselyting religious angle, or were limited in their appeal to the author's immediate family.

The object of the Pine Cone's poetry column is simply to share with others some of the delightful thoughts which come our way. The editor of this section does not profess to be an abiter of quality or technique. Art, in any form, should have appeal and interest, and this is our sole criterion.

—H. W. F.

Music Society Presents Paris Chamber Orchestra

Conductor Paul Kuentz

The Carmel Music Society will open its 1963-1964 concert series on Saturday, Nov. 9, with the presentation of the famous Paris Chamber Orchestra under the baton of Paul Kuentz. Soloists will be Monique Frasca-Colombier, violin, Christian Larde, flute and Gabin Lauridon, contrabass.

Conductor Paul Kuentz founded the ensemble over 10 years ago with brilliantly endowed personnel selected from prize winners at the Paris Conservatory and since 1951 it has given 500 concerts touring extensively in Europe and appearing in Paris for radio and television.

The Orchestra won audience ovations when it appeared in New York last spring at the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

The program for the Nov. 9 concert includes Rameau's "Concert No. 6 for Orchestra," Bach's "Concerto in E major for Violin and Orchestra," "Concerto in D major for Flute and Orchestra" by Haydn, "Concerto in E major for Contrabass and Orchestra" by Dittersdorf, Casterede's "Prelude and Fugue for String Orchestra (1961)" and "Rumanian Folk Dances" by Bartok.

Tickets may be purchased at the Carmel Music Society's box office located at the Graham Music Company, Mission Street near Sixth, Carmel, telephone 624-2085.

Howell Armor's Wood Sculpture in Show

Exhibited for the first time, when it will be on view in the Carmel Art Association November show, will be Howell Armor's "Camelopard" a sculpture executed in sycamore driftwood.

"Camelopard is the ancient name for the giraffe," the artist explained, "I have mounted it on an ebony base. The billet, which I purchased on Honolulu came from Africa and still shows the native woodcutter's adze marks."

"Incised on the base are the constellation Camelopardalis, the Giraffe, and the stars near it in the northern sky, between the Big Bear and Cassiopeas Chair, the lazy W. At his head is Polaris, the North Star, beneath his feet is the star Capella."

Mr. Armor gave 100 hours to the sculpturing of "Camelopard." The wood had been aged for 10 years and its natural graining lends realism, closely resembling the giraffe's configuration.

New Librarian at Community Hospital

Mrs. Edwina Mancour, new medical record librarian at Community Hospital is a native of the Sacramento Valley. It was during her undergraduate years at Mills College that Mrs. Mancour started to call Carmel Valley "home" as her parents, Dr. and Mrs. H. G. Potter purchased a residence in Robles del Rio in 1954.

Mrs. Mancour studied her profession at Merrick Hospital in Berkeley which was then affiliated with Mills College where she majored as a medical record librarian and graduated with a bachelor of science degree in 1958.

"The Poetry of W. H. Auden"

"The Poetry of W. H. Auden: The Disenchanted Island," by Monroe K. Spears—the only book to discuss Auden's recent poetry and criticism, and the first to have Mr. Auden's help in the effort to achieve factual accuracy and completeness—will be published on October 31 by Oxford University Press. While all phases of his writings are discussed—the early and late poetry, operas, songs, and other compositions for music—the chief emphasis is given to the poetry, especially to that written since 1940. A considerable body of myth and misinformation about Auden that has accumulated over the years is also set straight in this comprehensive study, long awaited by Mr. Auden's admirers.

Monroe K. Spears, Professor of English at the University of the South, was Editor of "The Swanee Review" from 1952 to 1961. He has edited, with H. Bunker Wright, "The Literary Works of Matthew Prior." In his own words: "This book is written out of the conviction that Auden's poetry can offer the reader entertainment, instruction, intellectual excitement, and a prodigious variety of aesthetic pleasures, all in a generous abundance that is unique in our time. Its basic aim is to set the facts in order, clear away the obstacles to understanding, and provide the background and context required for full appreciation of the poetry."

Readers of this volume will also welcome the full chronology, the bibliography of Auden's writings, and the first-line index to all his poetry, which gives concisely the publication history of each poem.

WHERE THERE'S LIFE

BY ANDRE HOPE

It's a weird, weird, weird, weird world! In honor of Hallowe'en . . . For instance, we went to the Outrigger to hear/see Lenzy Bruce. I had boned up on him, somewhat, by reading his article in "Play Boy" (well, you see, it's this way, Rod takes "Play Boy" and, naturally I can't resist—Face it! I give him a subscription for Christmas every year). In appearance Mr. Bruce resembles something akin to a bundle of rough-dry laundry in which a starving professor of advanced witchcraft has somehow become involved. On the night we heard him, he spoke so rapidly that much of the context was lost—including a few of those words. As you may know, Mr. B. is being constantly threatened with a trip to the stoney lonesome for some of his more colorful adjectives. Frankly, because he uses them with intent to shock, I gather, they lose something in translation. What he had to say

I found both pertinent and impertinent. I'm convinced he has something to say, though his way of saying it may be questionable. He also must have been amusing because everyone, including me, laughed a good deal of part of the time. Nothing weird about the Virgil Gonsalves group which was appearing nor vocalist, Alice Harvey. I hope this entertainment policy continues . . .

A thing which always strikes me as off-beat—I know that ships are always referred to as "She," but can never get used to hearing a sailor saying "Now my ship the George Henry Jones, SHE—"

And on T.V. all is not horror that screams. Watching a minor epic the other night "Helen of Troy," there was a huge and bloody battle going on in which there was a particularly gruesome sequence involving two characters running each other through with battle lances. At this point and without a break, a commercial came on for liquid band-aids. With such ludicrous programming I now live in tremulous fear that a newscast on Viet Nam may be followed by a plug for Unguentine.

In keeping with our celebration today of that international holiday, Hallowe'en, let's consider the practice of trick or treating. I find it delightful. In the old days if you didn't treat you were tricked. These days everyone treats and the trick is on them next morning when all the young come down with howling tummy aches and dental decay. In the really olden times, when I was a young (not you, of course) imagination ran rather more rampant. I remember in Laguna when someone removed all the benches from the bowling green and set up rather a nice barricade equipped with red lanterns and detour sign across what would have been the equivalent of Scenic Drive in Carmel. For the entire night the citizenry as well as the police carefully observed the sign, taking a highly unlikely detour, until someone from the city engineer's office came along. Then there was the time when the high school paper

State Convention for Peninsula Won by Vamp

Vamp announced today that the California State Hotel and Motel Association has selected the Monterey Peninsula as its convention site for 1965. Expected attendance is in excess of 600. The selection of the Monterey Peninsula was made at the recent convention held at Yosemite National Park, Oct. 19 to 22. Letters of invitation to hold this convention on the Monterey Peninsula were extended by the mayors of the various municipalities of the Monterey Peninsula, the Motel Association of the Monterey Peninsula as well as the convention bureau and visitors association of the Monterey Peninsula (Vamp).

The selection of the Monterey Peninsula is considered to be quite a plum in view of the fact that this convention is attended by the leading personalities of hotel and motel operations in the State of California. Also attending are purveyors of a state-wide nature. The promotional aspects of the convention to the Monterey Peninsula will greatly assist Vamp in its program for stimulating the tourist and convention industry for the Monterey area.

Representative of the Monterey Peninsula attending the convention at Yosemite were Mr. and Mrs. William Hubbard of the Del Monte Lodge, Mr. Jack Dougherty and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Locken of the Casa Munras, Mr. and Mrs. Al Fry of the Carmel Valley Inn and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Allen of the Mark Thomas Inn.

was a touch late coming out. Seems someone's copy was late (Guess whose Mr. Marshall). A window from the news office gave into the gym. So, while our advisor was out to supper we (I mean they) climbed down into the gym and liberally sprinkled some of the football gear with itching powder. Practice on the field the next day was very lively indeed; so were things in the principal's office. Some of the equipment thus tampered with happened to belong to the coach . . .

Rereading this (A process I avoid as much as possible, or had you noticed) I think perhaps I should have labeled it "for adults only." Hate to give anyone ideas, you know. Except, if you are planning to trade in your traditional broom for a flying vacuum, be sure you have a long extension cord . . . HAPPY HALLOWE'EN! Leave no fingerprints.

Lawyers Convene at Carmel Valley Inn

The California State Bar Committee for Continuing Education, with a membership of practicing lawyers and the deans of all accredited law schools in the State of California, held a three day conference over last week-end at the Carmel Valley Inn.

Attorney George Walker of Carmel and Monterey, a member of the committee reports that all accredited law schools in the state were represented by their deans or assistant deans.

The California Committee, foremost in the United States, has produced 28 books on the standards of law practice that have won national recognition.

Felix F. Stumpf, administrator of the program, discussed new books and the courses to be conducted through the facilities of the University of California Extension.

Subjects to be covered are: California Will Draftsmanship; Tax Highlights; New Sovereign Immunity Law; the Recently Passed Uniform Commercial Code; California Discovery Practice and Government Contracts Practice.

Among those attending the conference were Dean Frank Newman, Bolt Hall, Univ. of Calif., Berkeley; newly appointed Dean Sammis, Hastings Law School; Assistant Dean David Freeman of Stanford University Law School, and Dean Leo A. Huard, Santa Clara Law School.

There was a pause for social diversion on Saturday afternoon when many of the delegates to the conference attended the "Taste of Autumn" wine tasting party given by the Monterey Peninsula Lawyers' Wives at the Fairgrounds.

Delightful Parisian Farce At The Circle

In Paris, it is the thing to commit even murder with finesse and a touch of spice. Murder (there) is, after all, an act of impulse, particularly if the love of a lady is involved. If one, quite by mistake, slays the wrong man, well, in Paris one must overlook the little errors, gracefully.

If you are willing to go along with this very Gallic point of view, if you are longing for sophisticated theater, delightfully performed by a fine cast, you will find "A Shot in the Dark" at the Circle Theater in Carmel your reward.

Translated from Marcel Aichard's original script of "L'Idiotie" by Harry Kurnitz, the Paris favorite has lost none of its sparkle. Love, legal and otherwise, that brings on a maze of complication and mayhem, not a bit grisly, earns continuous laughter through each lively paced act.

In the leading role of the French parlor maid who causes all the to-do, Annette Sanchez, making her first appearance in Carmel little theatre, gives an excellent colorful interpretation of a minx who just can't say "No," taking love where she finds it—and that is practically everywhere.

Robert Floeter, Jr., popular Peninsula leading man, gives his talented best to the role of the young magistrate involved in his first big case, plus the blandishments of a new and very alluring young wife (played by the petite and vivacious Laddy Kratty). As the suave Parisian banker, completely assured of his capability of handling both his haughty wife and his erstwhile mistress, Brian Jarman gives a flawless performance, with Leonora DeHeer, as Madam Beaurevers, playing her role with sustained professionalism.

In supporting roles, George A. Smith is delightfully stuffy; Ray Cadena, as the literally minded clerk to the anxious magistrate, is whole heartedly exasperating.

Barbara Tripp, responsible for the setting deserves high praise. In the intimacy of the Circle Theatre this reviewer felt that she was actually in the Paris office of the magistrate. Down to the smallest detail, Barbara's decor is authentic.

Costumes of the "ladies" were modish and elegant. We couldn't quite go along with the peasant ensemble worn by Miss Sanchez as we've always thought of Parisian parlor maids as chic, but we could be wrong.

The Circle Theatre's "Shot in the Dark" is delightful entertainment, professionally presented, that should attract capacity audiences throughout its run, Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings through the autumn.

The Parker Hall's European Jaunt

Just returned from a three month museum and galleries tour of Europe, Mr. and Mrs. Parker Hall (Maxine Albrow) have tales to tell of their unique itinerary.

They set sail from San Francisco in July, going through the canal, arriving 18 days later in England. "Scotland was the high point of our days in the British Isles, the Edinburgh Festival was superb.

It was in the lake country of northern Italy that Parker and Maxine had an unforgettable experience. They explored the Capo De Ponte where they followed the amber route famous for its archaeological treasure, dating back to the iron age of some 2,000 years ago. The Hall's story and pictures of the iron mountain pre-historic carvings will appear in the Pine Cone in the near future.

Returning by ship to New York, Mr. and Mrs. Hall visited the museums there; the Field Museum in Chicago and in Santa Fe Art Gallery they were delighted to come upon a memorial exhibit of paintings by John Young-Hunter, father of Mrs. Gabriel Kuster of Carmel Valley.

WE'RE SENTIMENTAL, and this is an anniversary for Real Estate By the Sea, so we'd like to run the same ad with which we began our business in Carmel. So, here it is:

"CLEAN THE CUSPIDORS"

In my first real estate office job (I was 14) I copied documents, filed things, and weekly polished the three brass cuspidors. I don't know that this experience was valuable as far as real estate goes, but I can still remember what my boss said in assigning me the latter job: "There's only one way to run a real estate office: everything has to be CLEAN." An old-fashioned idea to which we still cling. We promise our clients that the properties we list and offer for sale have "clean" financing—mortgages from stable lenders which are safe to assume; that our properties will be fairly priced for today's market; that all facts regarding them will be available to our buyers. If your home is available, or if you want to buy a new one, we would like to show you how old-fashioned real estate service can help make this your happiest year.

Holman's Fashion Festival Celebrates Opening of Superb New Fashion Floor

Something old, something new, is the theme song in the Monterey Peninsula's proudest department store today. Old in integrity as well as in years, Holman's, founded in 1891, selling the finest of what the citizens of that era wanted most, has maintained its leadership through 72 years, not only in its merchandising but in management and personnel.

Today, with its brand new $150,000 Fashion Center, opened with fanfare and ceremony last Monday, Holman's presents 'fashion firsts' from the world's finest sources in a superb and sparkling contemporary setting.

Known as "The Poular" when the store opened its doors in 1891, it was the venture of Renssalaer L. Holman and James Towle. Within a few short years Mr. Towle relinquished his interest and the store took the name of Holman; it has been Holman family owned ever since. Today's owners are Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Holman.

There are few established customers who have not through the years come to know Mrs. Holman. Active in the store's management, civic-minded, gracious and unfailingly charming, Mrs. Holman has given her heart, as well as her genius in merchandising, to the establishment. Her sympathetic interest in Holman employees is reflected in the unfailing courtesy practiced in every phase of customer contact.

A visit to the new Holman Fashion Center will reward you. As one fashionable enthusiast remarked—"It is Harper's Bazaar, Vogue and House Beautiful all wrapped in one."

Ralph Clifford Fraser

Deceased, Sunday, Oct. 27, Ralph Clifford Fraser, age 88 years.

White haired, through the past decade bowed with rheumatism, his blue eyes sparkling with kindness through his gold rimmed spectacles, Ralph Fraser was known to hundreds of Carmelites for his quiet courtesy and untiring devotion to his job. He was in charge of the fresh vegetables and fruits at Nielsen Brothers on Dolores street. From his home at 4th and Lincoln "old Mr. Fraser" was a familiar figure to Carmel's police and early risers as he made his way, rain or shine, each morning around five o'clock to care for and sort his precious produce.

About five years ago his pain ridden limbs gave out and with 20 years employment in the same spot completed, Mr. Fraser retired. His wife who survives him has been bedridden for half a dozen years and until his final illness of a few days Mr. Fraser took his daily walk, to the Post Office, to shop and to chat with old friends.

Ralph Clifford Fraser, born Canada, July 22, 1875, a resident of Carmel for 27 years, was a character of old Carmel in the truest, finest sense. He will be sorely missed.

Private services were held in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea. The Paul Mortuary was in charge of arrangements. Friends wishing to make contributions in memory of Mr. Fraser may do so to the Visiting Nurse Assn., 512 Pierce street, Monterey, who are giving care to Mrs. Fraser.

one able to take the 10 district children the eight or nine miles to the nearest pickup point.

In a related move, Superintendent Medill Bair read a letter from Mrs. Mary A. Dudley protesting his directive of Oct. 25 stating that according to the best information currently available the Dudley family lives in the Greenfield district instead of CUSD.

The board also heard oral reports on the physical fitness program in the schools and on the mathematics program in the second grade at River School. Demonstrations of new teaching techniques and concepts were received with enthusiasm and some chagrin by board members.

Superintendent Bair was also told he could go ahead with plans to set up citizens advisory committees to take advantage of the large number of highly capable people in the community who could help solve pressing educational problems.

He was also given the green light to proceed with plans to lengthen the school day at schools whenever possible to fit such plans into the bus schedules.

Funny how he always asks for a bank reference.

To someone who doesn't know you, there is no better reference than your banker. Because credit is his business, a banker is in the best position to vouch for your dependability. That's why a word from him can often smooth the way for any financial transaction—whether you're buying a car, building a home, starting a business or opening a charge account at the corner store. One of the best ways to get a bank reference is to have a savings account. Why not open one today?
